IHEARTRADIO AUSTRALIA CONTINUES ITS PLATFORM EXPANSION IN THE HOME WITH INTEGRATION INTO HEOS BY DENON SPEAKERS AND A RECORD 296% INCREASE IN LISTENING HOURS ON GOOGLE HOME SPEAKERS SINCE CHRISTMAS

Friday, July 13, 2018 - iHeartRadio Australia today announced it is now fully integrated with over 27 HEOS by Denon and other Marantz products that incorporates the HEOS wireless streaming technology, as part of the platform's ongoing expansion in digital home entertainment.

The news follows iHeartRadio Australia's integration into Sonos, Google Home and Amazon Echo home smart speakers last year.

iHeartRadio Australia have also today released the latest listening figures for iHeartRadio streaming on Google Home Smart Speakers, with a total of 210,000 listening hours in June, which is an increase of 296% on December's figures.

Joe Salamanca who represents HEOS in Australia said: "We love music and we love that iHeartRadio gives our customers endless music entertainment. The HEOS wireless streaming technology, includes highly awarded audio brands like Denon and Marantz and the full range of HEOS by Denon wireless speakers and soundbars. Using iHeartRadio to stream all your favourites - radio stations, music and podcasts will be effortless for all our customers and they will love the simplicity."

Geraint Davies COO of iHeartRadio Australia said: "We have been integrated with Sonos speakers since late last year and now iHeartRadio is accessible across the whole range of HEOS by Denon speakers as well as other great Hi-Fi products across the Denon and Marantz brands that include the HEOS wireless streaming technology.

"We are continually working to make it as easy as possible for iHeartRadio listeners in Australia to seamlessly access their favourite radio stations, music or podcasts on iHeartRadio.

“We are also continuing to see the positive impact on iHeartRadio listening hours with the recent launch of smart speakers in Australia. Products such as Google Home, Amazon Echo and Apple Home Pod seem to be flying off the shelves and consumers love using them to listen to music and iHeartRadio in particular. On Google Home for example, we have seen nearly a 300% increase in the listening since Christmas.”
